

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

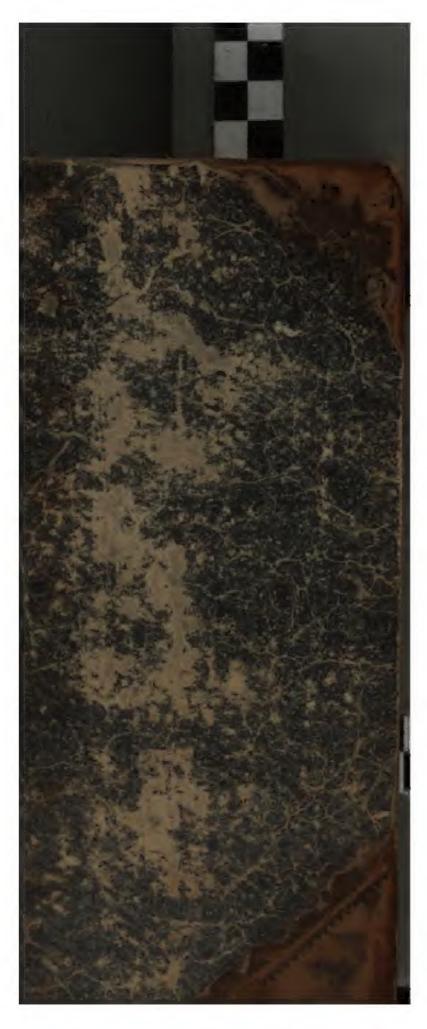

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

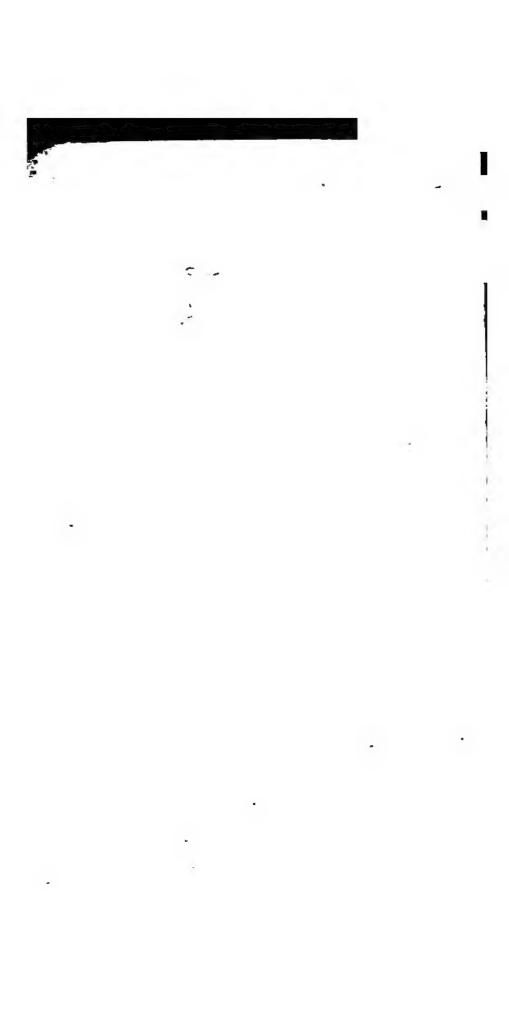

About Google Book Search

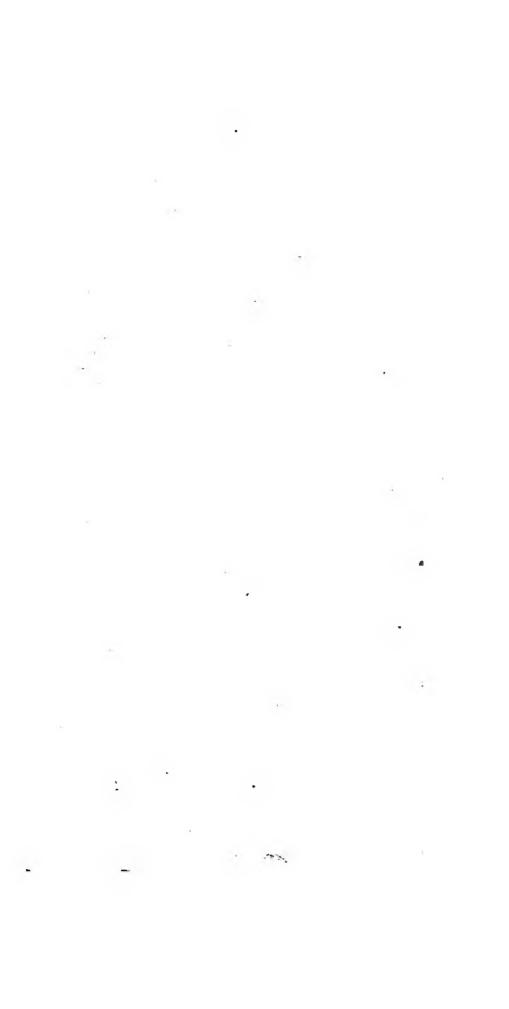

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. C. I. I. dockes I. X.] howes (contracted from occlose) is preperly an adjectice, signifying beined, and denoted a bond severant, usually for life. Now from the denotedness of such service, it was applied to the service of God. And the term docked throw was applied first to Mossa and Justica, afterwards to the Prophets, and lastly to the apositie, and even the Ministers of the Gospel in general, as 2 lim. at 24. Kanries denotes expressly constituted (as opposed to being self-appainted) namely, by Christ himself. Acts is, 16. 'Awteredoc denotes properly any one sent with a message, or to act for another. With the Article it denotes those compositioned by Christ, either in person, as the 12 Aposities, or, by some supernatural revolution, as in the case of Berrandes and Paul. The words following depaptration is at a case of Paul is being set spart for the word of the Gospel, not only by the Holy Spiris, (Acts visit. 2.) but also by Christ bisself, (ast. 1. lb. Els denotes purpose. All these Normantives depend upon yadops, which were to supplied in the most antient Epistles on record, both in Scripture and in the earliest Historiana.

2. I woodway-published. This is encent as an answer to the objection of the Jerss and Pagans, that Christianity was a mostly, (since the Gospel was looked forward to from the earliest ages) and to refute the calumany, that he undervalues Moses and the Prophets.

to refute the calumny, that he undervalues Moses and the Prophets.

3. Well row viole advor? 'respecting, or with reference to, his Son,' viz. as the subject of those propheries. Propheros, born; as Gal. In. 4. and shi. 14. Karr o'doca. Notwithstanding what some recent Commentators (and at all times those that deny the Divinity of Christ) presend, this must have the sense assigned by the antism translature, according to his human nature and descent; as Acts ii. 30. infra is, 5, 45 to 5 Kapeves vo sava occur, where see the Note.

2 Cor, v. 16. Hebr. v. 11. This interpretation is ably supported by Capp., Koppe, and Schleus.

4. vol careferror viol Geom-warping? With this passage the Commentators are somewhat peoplesed. See the details in Revens. Synop. One thing is clear, that opening or somewhat peoplesed. See the details in Revens. Synop. One thing is clear, that opening a consent are somewhat peoplesed. See the details in Revens spread, or demonstrates. Far more difficulty is there in determining the sense of acres were upon dynactrus, on which Commentators are by no means agreed. Chrys, and the Greek Commentators, together with many eminent moderns as Luther. De Die Gret., Fessel, Pearson, Whitby, Schoettg., Seeks, Weston. Newe., Koppe, and Rosems., ta wravina ärysay to denote the Holy Spirit. As a although they somewhat differ in their views, y they generally explain a to mean 'occording the Holy Spirit, and by that Holy Spirit evinced in His supernatural operations after that raised Jesus from the dead. This resay I the sense; but it so notlines the antithesia whee plainly subsists, and requires such an unprecent dented sense to he assigned to sarra, that I are inclined to prefer the sense assigned by the Lab Fathers generally, as also Camerar. Parassi Bers., Pack., Willet, Streek, Heumann, Wolf Schleus., and others, namely, the Derive assers of Christ, His hely and blessed Spiritual nature This sense is demanded by the authorist between any a colored and starral wrestens. And it is conwith many eminent moderns as Luther, De Die nava odoka and kard nveima. And it is ex firmed by I Pet. iii. 18., where Christ is said be Cavaradels alv napal. Javnsandels de be Cararwoleis als stapat. Loomounter de verschaurs, where eard origin and eard respective and lave respectively been just as good Greek. Compuse, also I Tim. iii. 16. and Hab. ii. 12. So at Kom. ix. 6. Christ is said to be de wareper eard origin, but withal, to be Good Greek and a laware. Indeed, the doctrine of the Greek Article forbids the first mentioned interpretation, while it readily adolfs the interest for though while it readily adolfs the indirer. For though wropes dynomer must be admitted to be a son of Helwaum for weedan äyner, (divide spirit) set it cannot siand for the weedan wropes dynomer, and looy Spirit. And, by virue of the antithose, as eard origin must be an "by his fleshly, i. c. has man, nature, so must eard wropes dynom mean, according to his (i. e. Jesus'a) Spirit of holiness," i. c. his Holy and Divine nature. Of course, the words must be construed immediately after side Grov.

the words must be construed uninediately after olde theor.

5. Addpoure! Plur, for singular, as frequently in St. Paul's Epistics. Xsions and divertables. The best Commentators recognine in this and Hendiadra for 'the office of Apostleship,' and the grace belonging to it. He wave, whether which is briefly and obscurely worded, it, 'in order that all nations may be brought to obedically embines the Christian faith,' See wy. 6. 5. 17. xri. 26. Compare via. 12. av. 27. Gal. v. 3., from which and from other passages it appears that the sense of openherne class in St. Paul is 'I am bound by office or duty to perform something.' On Eddnor and Rophapar. See Krebs, Kyple, and Koppe. For the vergin of the latter term, see Note on Acia axivil. 2 & 4. On the distinction between the two terms I have fully texated in Recens. Synop., where I have proved, that the question here so warmly spinted by the Commentators, whether St. Paul by $p_the meant the Homess, or not, is a firedom question for that the Apostle meant probably no more than all nations, both creatized and varietized; the words fellowing cooper we had described; the all nations, both cessioned and nucreitized; the words following sospers to real decertors, which have that very sense, being added by way of ex-have that very sense, being added by way of explanation.

15. To say his spot. Sec. 1 On the construction here the Commentators are not agreed. One thing is certain, that there is an ellip, of dors, Most of the recent Interpreters join the Towith spot, which, they think, requires it in order to stand for spotlysia. But neither can ear ded dispense with it. It should seem, therefore, by an idiom which may be telerated in so anomalous a writer as St. Paul, to be taken with both; or spotlysis, as in Thucyd. It So. The sense is: Thue, as far as concerns myself, it is my anxious wish to preach. This use of release the fitte ones, as Thucyd. Mos must be supplied from the subject. There is no occasion to suppose (with some) an ellip, of offer at wood, since such scome one of these false ellipses which have been so unsparingly except away by Hermann and his school.

I shall not be oshamed of the Gospel of Christ even at Rems, where riches, pomp, and glory are alone hold in admiration, where high genius and learning are united with the height of profligacy of manners, and where consequently the humbling doctrines of a religion which demands severe self-denial, would be likely to attract dorises, and might make the preacher and professor of it as it were ushamed. Of course, by telling them he shall not be ashumed, the Apastle delicately hints to them that they ought not to be so. By this scatument he glides into the subject on which he meant to treat, as leading along to be obtained by faith in Jesse Christ.

Tel Xporrel is not found in 8 anthon MSS, and several Versions and Fathers, is rejected by Mill and Beng,, and is expected by Greek, and Knapp; but rashly, for the MS, authority is exceedingly weak. And the remark of Wets.

— devalue ydp—micreverre] Abstract for concrets. The sense is, 'For it is the powerful means appointed by God for the salvation of all who believe and embrace it.' With ele everyties we may compare ele benavity aiv. 5. Thus the sentence comprehends two assertions; 1, the complete efficacy of the Gospel to salvation; 2, that the enterior of this efficacy shull reach unto all who believe and obey it, i. e. as far as concerns the gracious design of God, it shull be universal. The words Torscale—EAAppe are exceptual, and meant to romind the Jesus part of the Christian converts, that the Gospel was meant for the salvation of both Jews and Gestiles.

17. dramsorien year Devi-wierrie Commonistions exercectingly differ in their expositions of these words. They are, however, generally agreed that decanoriers Geoù means the wade of obtaining rightenomen, i.e., justification. As to the words de vierros sie vierrie, they are, from their brevity and undeterminationes, susceptible of several senses, all of them specious though only one can be true. Hamm., Whithy, Shart, and most Commonistion explain de vierresse 'produced by faith,' and sie wierres' be produced by faith,' and sie wierres' be produced by faith,' and sie wierres' they are, in wierres' to produce faith fin those to whom it is greatulgated]. But it should seem that this would require if in vierresse, and would involve a harsh fransposition, and such an interpretation of elevistic involves some hardness. Many antisent and some modern Commentation as Scaliger, Fall, and Le Clerc, runder 'progressis et increaseme fidel,' i. w., explains Dr. Shuttleworth, 'haring its beginning in faith it is perfected in faith.' This, however, is not at all correspondent to the context. It should rather seem that the ise is for day, denoting the sadies of the revelation; and therefore that is wierves is equivalent to day viervess These Xpeeves in the parallel passage at its 21. eg. 1 Cor. xv. 3. Gal. 5. 11 is 13. and 3 Cor. un. 1. demand the following sense: 'The institution which I am new about in advert to in what I myself recoved from the isometable and present communication of the Lord himself, and, according to the superior injunction therein contained, appeared for your observance. It is not, therefore, of my own decising, nor that of any man, but Divinely instituted, and consequently importively binding on all Christians,' It is remarkable (as Dodd: observes) that the restriction of this ordinance should make a part of that immediate revelation which was vurchambel. tation of this ordinance should make a part of that immediate revelation which was reactioned to Paul; and it offerds a strong acquisions for the property of it in the Church. St. Paul having written his first Epistle to the Cornthians to try what power he had still with that church, in which there was a great faction against him, which he was attempting to break, was in pain till he found what success it had. But when he had by Titus received an account of their repentance upon his former letter, of their submission to his orders, and of their good disposition of mind toward him, he takes courage, speaks of himself more freely, and justifies himself more boldly. And as to his opposers, he deals more roundly and sharply with them than he had done in his former Epistle. (Abp. Nowcome.)

(Abp. Newcome.)

C. I. In this Chapter the Apostle comforts those whom he is addressing by the consideration of his own deliverances; shows his sincerition of his own deliverances; shows his sincerition and consistency in what he had taught, and gives the reasons for his delay in coming to them.

Thus the expression literally againes 'to bid any one take courage,' viz. by suggesting the reasons for hope and confidence. By the ημείε is meant, as the best Commentators are agreed, the Apostic humals who is may be alwayed uses the arms. as the best Commentators are agreed, the Aposte hanself, who, it may be observed, uses the expression δύνασθαι out of modesty. The wapacaλούμεθα must not be confined to any ens of the sources of comfort, but be understood generally of ell, especially of that be understood generally of ell, especially of that spiritual support breathed into his soul by the Great Comforter, The Paracists, sent from God, and who is God. Now that comfort would be imparted to others, both by communicating the grounds of it, and by inspiring them with the same spirit of devotedness to the Gospel that filled his own bosom.

Here Whithy sustly recognizes a proof of the personality of the Holy Spirit. "The names (observes Mr. Holden) of the Three Persons in the Tinnty are here expressly mentioned, and joined together in a petition for spiritual graces, which infers their co-equal and essential Deity."

The common roading has, however, houn ably defended by Warf, Heum., Bend., Elsa, Matth., Mich., knapp., Schleus., Stort, Hanr., and Nolan.; who wree, that, though waperflookedward does not elsewhore occur, yet no authority is required for so octuary a compound. As to the authority of MSS, and Versions for the other roading, the MSS, are but ma in number, and though very antent, are such as have been every where altered by early Critics, who changed the popular expressions into Classical sees. And with respect to the Versions, they are worded so ambiguously, that it cannot be pressured with certainty what the Translators road; though the sense "not regarding his life," secunt more to favour the sid than the new reading. As to the nethority of celebrated Growl Scholars, it cannot decide a question of this kind; for we may account for those predictions in the same way so for the coof celebrated Greek Resolute, it cannot receive a question of the land; for we may account for their predilection in the same way in for the rec-reption of those Crates who encoded the MS. A. B., drc., naively, from the preparation con-tant of regoldship and wapafisheries in a land not ensemble to the preparationage, and ably to the Scriptural doctrine, that recovery from dangerous december in the negarded as precent were has been found no where else accept in the Great Fathers. The date of this Epistle, as that of most others, is uncertain. Some, as Dr. Burton, fix it to the year 46., others as high as 52 or 53. It is by all admitted that St. Paul first planted Christianity at Thessalonica, but that in consequence of a persecution from the unbelieving Jews, was obliged to fly from thence, and after residing at Corinth wrote this Epistle from thence. It is almost universally supposed to have been the earliest written of all St. Paul's Epistles; and its genuineness and authenticity have never been doubted. The intent of it was 1, to confirm the Thessalonians in the faith, by evidence its Divine original. 2. To exhort them to a life worthy of their high calling in Christ Jesus. The manner is most affectionate and earnest, and the style clearer than most of the other Epistles of St. Paul.

Paul.

1. Σιλουανό | Silvanus, or Silas, in first mentioned in Acts xv 22, when he accompanied Paul and Barnabas from Jerusalem to Antioch with the decree of the council, A. D. 46. He is called είνης ηγούμενος είν τοῦς εἰδελφοῖς, xv. 22, and προφήτης, 32. He accompanied St. Paul on his second apostolic journey, 40, was imprisoned with him at Philippi, xvi. 19, 23, and having gone thence to Thessalonica, xvii. 1, escaped with him by night to Berea, 10. He stand there with Timothy, when St. Paul went to Athens, 14, and afterwards joined St. Paul at Corinth, xviii. 5. (Dr. Burton.) Τιμόθεσε. See Note on Acts xiv. 6, xvi. 1, and Dr. Burton in loc. At is the supply ούση. The sense seems to be, ' joined to God,' vix. as Mr. Holden explains, by that union which subsists between God the Father and the Son, and all true believers. The same expression is found with elevers. The same expression is found with mencement of other Epistles.

23. Here the Apostle, I conceive, speaks with reference to all the Church of Thessalonica. 'Ayadous abould be rendered, 'may be sanctly.' The expression Gerés vije elpripus is used with reference to that peace, the cultivation of which was enjoined at v. 13., and the violation of which was contemplated in what was east of the Spintual gifts. Yet a more general sense (namely, of favour) may be included. On the full sense of the term ely., see Notes on Joh. xvii. 17. and I Cor. vi. 11. 'Ohorakeie's no for ohorakee; and όλός, is nearly synonymous with δλοσ. Many eminent Commentators maintain that the Aposte, eminent Commentators maintain that the Apostic, by distinguishing the τό πνεύμα, the ή ψυχή, and τό σώμα, meant to advert to the opinion of those Philosophers, who represented man as cossisting of three parts, spirit, soul, and body. See Whitby and Benson. And Vitrings shows that the Rabbins held that opinion. It is, however, uslikely that the Apostle should advert to such meaning to denote the shoils man with all is faculties and powers both bodily and mental.

4 λήλους' ωστε ήμας αυτούς εν ύμεν καυχάσθαι έν ταις εκ- 12 κλησίαις του Θεού, υπέρ της υπομονής ύμων και πίστους, 12 22.2

This Epustle was certainly written not very long after the first, probably as soon after sending the first as the Apostle had had time to learn the situation of the Church of Thessalonica. It was, no doubt, written for the purpose of correcting a mistake, which bad arisen from a minunderstanding of certain expressions therein contained; as if the day of judgment were to be in that age; an error which, if not corrected, might have proved very dangerous, and which had already occasioned much evil, by leading some to neglect the business of life. This the Apostle does by showing that the day of judgment will not so speedly arrive as they imagined; but that before it, an awful apoetasy would prevail. The Apostle, moreover, takes the opportunity to reprove the disorderly conduct which had been occasioned by the opinion in question.

The Epistic consists of three divisions, (corresponding to the three Chapters) of which the lst is consistory; the 2d partly prophetic and partly didactic, the 3d hortatory and valedicters.

C. I. 1, 2. On these verses, see 1 These, i. eq. n. 14, 19 & 20.

3. From hence to r. 12. the Apostle commends them for the steadfastness of their faith, and for their patience under persecution; assuming them that when Christ comes to judgment, they should be rewarded, and their persecutions panished. (Benson.) Εύχαρ. &c. Compare Rom. 1. 8. 1 Cor. 1. 4 & 5. Phil. 1. 3 & 4. The we here and throughout the Epistle is, as the best Expositors are agreed, to be understood of St. Paul only. The δφαλ, πόχ. m taken by Koppe as expressed populariter for airlas kws row evy. This, however, is paring down the sense, which cannot be less than what Abp. Newe, expresses, 'We ought to think God;' a rendering confirmed by the intent Versions. "After seria, for addition or discuss, par est, of which expression examples are cited by the Commentators. As irrepowfairs is a stronger term that whee-sales, we may infer that their faith had increased in a greater degree than their dyster, which includes all those kind offices by which Christians might assist Christians, and thereby mutually sweeten the bitteriess of that cup of sorrow which their profession of a new religion everywhere spoken against, would be sure to expose them.

4. wore—Θeo] Doctoris summs laus posits est in discentium profectibus, I Thess ii. 19 & 20. (Pelt.) So Turretin. (cited by Pelt) well expresses the seems thus. 'Tants est fides vestra, ut nobis ipais gratelemur de tablus discipulis.' 'Thus (says Pelt) the praise is ascribed to the power of the Gospel.' Kavy. in this seems occurs in 2 Cor. xii. 5. and often. The iv is equivalent to the Hebr. 2, de; as in Gal. iv. 20. ανορούμαι έν ὑμῖν. & i. 24. ἐδόξρασκ τὸν Θοὸν ὁν ὑμῖν. and sometimes in the Classical writers. In ὑτομονήτ καὶ κίστεων there may be, as most of the later Commentators say, an Hendrad. for ὑπομονή τῆν πίστεων, as ὑτομονή τῆν ἐλπίδον. But it is better, with the antient and earlier modern Expositors, to keep the terms distinct, the later being considered as productive of the former; patience being, as Calvin says, 'thea fruit and testimony of taith.'

In bridge, de voie dy, a, and brost, de vière voie ware, there is a parallelam, of which the two members illustrate each other, and the sense is: 'that God may derive glory from the sternal happmens which he will bestow on all faithful Christians.' The words de vij ψρόρο da, are (as the best Commentators are agreed) transposed, as is Rom a. 12. αρόθονονται in which, after a parenthema of two versus, corvesponds de ψρόρο at v. 16. So here the words δνα-δρών are parenthetical; and the sense (which has been variously expressed) seems to be, 'because our testimony among you (intertally, apad, i.e. caram vos) bath been believed by you.' how the foregoing sentences, which has respect to all heliavers, in in this parenthems indirectly and mentally applied to the Theodomens in particular. On the purport of this most difficult portion of firequise, treating of the "Man of see great difference of opinion exists, and there has been enough written upon it to fill a Volume. The various interpretations may be distributed into two classes, b. That which supposes the words to have respect to what was speedify to hoppers, and in a comparatively short time sid happon, as the determine of Jerusaters, or the great speeding and in a comparatively short time did happen, as the depression of Journalman, or the great speakers which preceded that event, or the revolt of the Jose from the Romana, or the prevalence of the horses of the Countes, not to mention other less probable opinions. 3. That which represent the events to horse traggers to mention which was to hoppen long after; and of the interpretations of this clean there are two divisions; 1, of those who think the appetray and the Man of Sin have already appeared, in Propry or Mahamadoram; 2, of these who think the appearance than think they are yet to term.

The generality of Communitators consider the whole portion, v 2.—12., as having reference the grand became of Papersy and the convenement of the Romanh Church; inlong the "Man of us" to denote the norice of parents who have daied the Paper Church; and the agreement of the absence and the Romanh Church. Dot though this view has been supported by the ability of Mede, Benson, Bp. Nowton, Manhaght, and others, and it mach countenamed by neveral striking considences which exist between the characters of the aportory, and these of Popery, (not to mention the complete establishment of the figure by which a series of passens filling an office are spoken of as eve.) yet it is lable to such arress objections (which will appear from what is said further on), that I cannot venture to adopt it. As to that which refers the passage to Machanitosium, it may be considered utterly informated in a connection with Christianity. As to the interpretations of Class I., they nee all lable to manuporable objections, and denored lathe the truth probably hos, it may be proper to promise a few remarks on the nature of the passage; and to consoler how far we are warranted in conpecting to be machined clearly to discour its full sense, and explain its complete application. And first, it is evident from the use of the Astach with siverencies in every one of the MSS, and the of paragraphic verse, implies that something was declaration, but that he only repeats one below most are planty meant for that Thomselenium does not do to the test of the survey and for the Thomselenium was v, and we may presume that. Nor is the difficulty removed by taking the words, on Pelt dons, thus "Confidents autem, Domain upon confirmants speak motivant, fore, it quan' &c. The most effectual method of solution seems to be to regard the sentence to contaming two members blended with one. Thus the amount will be, "Now we hope and trust that [upon the whole] ye are doing the things which we command you, and we trust in the Lard's measurance that ye will be enabled to restricte to do them." It is well observed that the Apostle everywhere urges the necessity of decise gross, and yet, on the other hand, admits free-will, or human liberty of action. See Phil it 12. eq. 2 Cor in S. On the authenticity, and consequently canonical authority, of this and the second Epistle to Timothy, there has never been a doubt: but on the time when they were written much difference of opinion subsists. Most of the learned fix this first Epistle to A. D. 64, while Dr. Burton assigns it to 52, soon after St. Paul left Ephesus, and he thinks it might be written from Troas. "At the beginning of the year (continues Dr. Burton) he had sent Timothy to Corinth, intending him to return before his own departure (ACIS MIX. 22. 1 Cor. iv. 17. xvi. 10, 11.) but Timothy reached Ephesus either after St. Paul had left it, or but a short time before: and since St. Paul committed the church at Ephesus to Timothy, he sent this letter with at Ephesus to Timothy, he sent this letter with instructions."

On the parentage of Timothy see Acts avi. I.

3. and 2 Tim. i. 5. He was, as we find by the Acts and Epistles, frequently employed by St.
Paul in going about to settle the state of things in various Churches. At the time when this in various Churches. At the time when this Epistle was addressed to him, he was Bishop of the Ephesian Church. And it was written to instruct him as to the discharge of his important duties, and probably, through him, others similarly circumstanced. Certainly the instruction contained in this and the second Epistle, and that to Titus, as to the character of persons to be appointed to the sacred offices, must be of perpetual use; and even those parts which have reference only to the state of things in the primitive Church are nevertheless calculated to be profitable in all ages, and under all circumstances. The design of the Epistle was not only to remind Timothy of the sacred obligations he had undertaken, and give him directions for his conduct, both in a public and private capacity; but also to admonish and edity the church at Ephesus, which had been disturbed by the arts of false teachers.

Ι. ΠΑΥΛΟΣ απόστολος Ίησοῦ Χρίστοῦ δια θελήματος Θεοῦ, κατ' ἐπαγγελίαν ζωῆς τῆς ἐν Χριστῷ Ἰησοῦ, 2 Τιμοθέῳ ἀγαπητῷ τέκνῳ: χάρις, ἔλεος, εἰρήνη ἀπὸ Θεοῦ καὶ Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ τοῦ Κυρίου ἡμῶν.

This Eputle was manifestly written by St. Paul while in confinement, probably at Rome. Not, however, in the impresonment mentioned at Acts xxvii., but one which befell him some time after, (see Paley's Hor. Paul.) and the present Epistle is supposed to have been written many years (ten or twelve) after the former, and the last the Apostle wrote, not long before his death. Its leading object is the same, but the more immediate one was to inform Timothy of the state of his affairs during his impresonment, and immediate one was to inform Timothy of the state of his affairs during his imprisonment, and to exhort him courageously to maintain the faith of (Anst crucified.

This Epistle bears so very strong a resemblance to the first Epistle to Timothy, that that will frequently, with the Notes thereon, be found a sufficient comment on it. The causes of the affinity are clearly attributable to the very similar affinity are clearly attributable to the very similar curcumstances in which the persons addressed were placed, and were connected with the writer. See Paley's Hor. Paul. As to the strong resemblance in phraseology, it may (as in the case of the Epistle to the Colomians as regards that to the Epistles being written nearly at the same time, and whilst the same ideas dwelt in the writers mind." The period when the Epistle was written is variously assigned; but generally supposed to be a year or two before the first Epistle to Timothy. It should rather seem to have been written a very short period efter, as that to the Colomians was in regard to the one to the Epistles. The place where it was written is even more undecided. As to Titus himself, we know little with certainty; and great doubt exists as to the time when Christianity was first introduced into Crete.

nent Commentators think may mean 'one who furnishes matter of self-condemnation against hamself.' This sense, however, seems very harsh, an one avoid; for he is utterly pervected, and mad little agreeable to what proceded. The antient interpretations, from their sumplicity, deserve more attention. Chrys., Theophyl., and Ecum. explain it dearwoldynyros, or condemned, and is so increased that you may justly break off intercourse; and, by his being directly self-condemned, you need not keep up to humself and his own conscience. And it is intercourse with the intent of convincing him of his arrow; for of that his conscience must and does admonish him."

This Emetle is sumply a brief letter written to reconcile a Colosian named Philoson to his slave Oncommus, who had abeconded; and having come to Rome, had been converted to the Christian faith, and been converted to the Christian faith, and beptized by St. Paul; with whom he staid some time, attending upon him with the greatest fidelity. In order, however, to repair the injury he had done his master, he was anxious to return to him; and St. Paul wrote this letter to entrent Philemon to pardon his offence, and receive him again into his service; since he might now place entire comfidence in him, as he was become a sincera Christian, and would conscientiously discharge his duties. Nay, is order to prevent all objection on the score of injury suffered, the benavolent Apostie offers to injury suffered, the benevolent Apostic offers to imburse it.

On the time and carcumstances of the writing on the time and circumstances of the writing of the letter, see Paley's Hor. Paul.; who proves it to have been written at the same period with the Epistle to the Colomens, who conveyed that, and no doubt this at the same time, to Colome. The writer was yet in confinement, but in supposed to have been nearly at the end of his first imprisonment. It is impossible to read the letter without being much struck with the generously of spirit which breathes throughout it, and the address and delicacy employed by the Apostle in accomplishing his benevolent purpose.

C. I. 1. Sequies X. 'I.] 'a prisoner for the cake of, or in the cause of Jesus Christ.' See 2 Tim. i. 8. and Note. Esseyyō. Literally, 'below [in the cause of the Gospel],' whether as Descon, or prescher to the congregation assembling at his house, is uncertain.

2. 'Awola] Said by the anticint to have been the wife of Philemon: and Archippus, they tell as, was his sow, and a Descon in the Church.

On overpay, see Phil. ii. 25, and Note. With respect to vij new.' slady ove danksprig, Bence has given good reasons for supposing that this was not the whole congregation of the Christians at Colosse, but a part only. The Christians there (as in most other places at this period of persocution, before they were allowed to build edifices for the common worship of considerable anushers) probably assembled in small parties at the houses of some of the leading persons among the Christians, who happened to have rooms convenient for the purpose. See Rom. xvi. 5, 11, and 1 Cor. xvi. 19.

Jebb to account for this secting irregularity, which he has satisfactorily done in his Sacred Literature, p. 345—347.; rightly tracing the reason to the different objects of those Epstles as compared with that of the present. "In the former case, he observes, it was requisite to give prominence to faith, in the latter, the object would be promoted by making fore toward the assist the prominent member of the period. St. Paul, therefore, has distributed his terms like a consummate master of language he placed love first, and the object of that love last, including faith toward Christ, the originative fountain of all Christian love, between these two extremes: thus, instead of detracting from the grand impression, the mention of Christian faith pre-implies it."

the appeliance was next given, those equations had not been received into the Canon of Scripture.

But to proceed to the Epistle now under consideration, since tree Apastles of the mane of James are mentioned in the N. T., there has been some doubt which of them was the nather of the Epistle. The hearned, however, are in general agreed that it was not the son of Zebedoo, but the non of Zebedoo, but the Loudence (Zebedoo, Lari' who was Bushop of Jerusalem, and is called brother, i. e. himman, if our Lard, Gall. 2. 19. With respect to the destread of Jerusalem and widence (arising from allianous to the trends of the Epistle, we know that the James was put to death in a tirmuit of the Jown, a. n. 62.; and internal evidence (arising from allianous to the trends of the twenty that it must have been written during the twe or three years previous to that the trends of the learned are agreed in fixing it at 61 or 60. Then Epistle, like the normal extension of the primitive Church in receiving any books lists their fance, all doubts respecting its genuineness being soon removed, it was admitted into the searced Book; and at so early a period that it is found in the Pach. Syr. Version, which wim formed at the baginning of the second century.

With respect to the pursons to whom it is addressed, there is every reason to thank that by the twelve tribus scattered abrond are meant the believing Jewi dispersed in various purts all over the world; though at the same time the Epistle was doubtless intended also for the livenseli of the emonwarted Jewo of these countries.

We are now come to the Epsties called Catholic, an appellation variously accounted for, but commonly, and with most probability, supposed in have been grown because they were addressed not to any particular Church, (lake the Epsties of St. Phal) but to Christians in general. The appellation, however, was not coveral with The appellation, however, was not coveral with the Epsties. Hence the Apostle does not shall use when the Canon of Strepture was first settled. And although two of them (2d and 3d John) are the farthest from Catholic, heing addressed to particular persons, yet at m not improbable that, at the time when the appellation was first given, those Epsties and not been received into the Canon of Strepture.

But to proceed to the Epstile now under consideration, since two Apostles of the name of Johns are mentioned in the N. T., there has been again doubt which of them was the author of the Epstie in part, doctring of faith a the exclusive condition of salvetion. To not the Epstie in the agreed that it was not the anneal of Zebele, but the norm of Atelems of Caesas, called "the faith. Thus the Epistic is, in part, doctrinal, an abounds with these spiritual views and emit ments which are poculiar to the Gospel; never theirs, the writer's main object was to inculcat mornisty, and to enforce the necessity of the practical defines which are essential to a justifying faith, and which constitute the perfectes of the Christian life. And this be does with a carmentum and nation which render he exherts ing faith, and which constitute the perfection of the Christian life. And this be done with an earnestmen and pathon which render his exhering the property of the chief appeals to the heart, while there headless throughout a Christian spirit of most-most, gentleness, and beaugusty, omitently calculated to persuade." See Juspis up. Rec. Syn.

The style is mutally considered plans and sumple: but the learned Commentator Hottinger places, justly, in literary ment on a higher scale than has commonly been done. His words are there: "Oratio Jacobi insegrem habet dessister, grands out, vehemens atque incitate, frequests imaginum letuitibus et comparationem aspirits posse prophetice adangst, at another tearming in the posse prophetic adangst, at another tearming morders ac troporum et figurarum erraments et asymonic porter fulgorum effectur." The learned Ep. Jebb is of the same optason.

Some regard this as a frush ex-hortation, unconnected with the peccaling con-text, and enjouring a mutual confusion of Sulls or injuries, and a mutual supplication to God for apartical health. But to amign the figurative season is follows: In present context, is very banch. And most Expositors, with resons, con-ment this exhortation with what precedes, under-standing the injunction to refer only to cases of dangerous neckness, and when the confession and generalization is question would materially send standing the injunction to refer only to come of dangerous sectaces, and when the confession and succencilation in question would materially tend to promote recovery of the sack person. The "prayer" here mentioned norms intended chiefly of the injured person, who should not only forgive, but pray for his injurer, if position; though it may be understood generally of all other prayers for the socovery and pardon of size of the sick person, except these mentioned at vv. 14 & 15. Of everyt, this passage will by no means support the Romash practice of suricular confession, especially to a prast; for the confession in the present case is supposed to be made to the injured person, in order to be forgress.

Then, in encourage the use of prayers for the sech not easy from the Minuters, but from Christians in general, the Aposto adds the assurance webb—herpyopoists, namely, that the sarnast energetic prayers of the righteous have great efficacy: Some eminent Commentators, indeed, applies hereby, 'inwrought by the Spirit.' But, as has been before observed, that signification of the word is not founded on any certain proof; and it is here unsuitable to the context.

The former interpretation is supermed by Origen and around Latin Fathers, and, of the moderns, by Hamm., Whitby, Wells, Pyle, Atterbary, and Doddr.; the latter, by Gret, vorst., Ext., Bp. The authenticity, and consequently canonical authority, of this Epiatle has never been disputed. On the time when, and the place where authority, of this Epistle has never been cuspited. On the time when, and the place where it was written, nothing certain can be pronunced. Indeed, of the history of St. Peter's life subsequent to his being at Antoch, A. D. 46, we know nothing from the N. T. That he suffered martyrdom at Rome, at the close of the reign of Nero, about 67 or 68, we learn from the early Ecclematical Historians; and that his remains were deposited at Rome, we have the same testimony, to which I would add that of Procopius Hist. p. 195. 10. But though the time when the Epistle was written cannot be fixed, yet, from some allusions in it to the trourime when this Epistle was written cannot be fixed, yet, from some allusions in it to the troubles in Judma, it is supposed to have been not long before the death of the Apostle. With respect to the place where it was written, the determination of that point is closely connected with the interpretation of the word Baffeldies at Ch. v. 13., where see Note. As to the persons to whom it was addressed, that is also a matter of uncertainty. They were probably the Christians dispersed through various parts of Asia Minor, partly fees and partly Gestiles, to the former of whom the expression esperiolipsis discovered account to refer, and that at v. 14. to former of whom the expression exaperation are the attention to refer, and that at v. 14. to the latter. With respect to the scatter contained in this Epistle, it bears a close affinity to that of the Epistle of St. James in scope and argument, adverting in the persecutions to which the Christians were exposed, and anhorting to patience and respeation, penseverance in the true faith, and the practice of the relative dutes. The Enistle hears all the marks of a fervent and The Epistle bears all the marks of a fervent and most devout spirit. The style is somewhat irre-

The meaning, therefore, in that traption, in order to save us, must not be the more estwards act, but must be also accompanied with the inward grace; in other words, it must be that haptism which our Lord described in the being born again of water and of the Sport. See Joh. in. 5. The Ambaptists, moded, here argue that better cannot make this answer of a good concenses. To which Whithe satisfactured was ni. 5. The Anabaptists, indeed, here argue that buptum cannot make the answer of a good conscience. To which Whitby satisfactorily replies as follows. "St. Paul also may, that the 'true circumcision before God, in not the outward circumcision of the flesh, but the internal circumcision of the flesh, but the internal circumcision of the heart and spirit, Rom. ii. 20. But will any one hence argue, that the Jowish infants, for want of this, were not to be admitted into coverant with God by circumcision? And yet the argument in plainty parallel, 'the answer of a good conceince' in required, that the baptism may be industry; therefore they only are to be buptized who can make the interior and the 'inward circumcisson of the heart in wequired as the only acceptable circumcisson in the might of God; therefore they only are to be circumcissed who have the issued circumcisson of the heart. The Jews did not admit greatlytes to circumcisson, without this answer of a good conscision; but yet they admitted their ministration of haptism; it observe the same custom in admitting the children of their preceiving to haptism, as they admitted them both to circumcisson and haptism."

6. sie voors-wordparts] The sense is here obscure, and therefore the contact is the more chorure, and therefore the content to the more carefully to be attended to , according to which the interpretations of those who (as Whithy, Doddr., and others) take wer. in a figurative name (namely appritually dead, i.e. in truspanse and come recomments the Gentiles) cannot, I think, Dudde, and others) take vec. in a figurative goine (annely spiritually dead, i.e. in truspience and sue, meaning the Gentilen) cannot, I think, he adouted. Yet understanding it in a physical sense, (conformably to the interpretation of the word adopted in the preceding verse,) the perplexing question is, how the Genpel can be mad to be preached to the dead? A thing no where ancerted in Scripture, and contradictory to the nenour of st. To obvisite this, some, as Slade, comparing the passage with iii. 19., inderstand the assertion to be, that the Gospel had been preclaimed srow to the, that the Gospel had been preclaimed srow to the, that the Gospel had been preclaimed srow to the dead (and paxpore), that they will be judged by the law of nature for the things done in the body, and he rewarded, in proportion to their descrip, by a spiritual life, according to the will and power of God. As, however, pexpore must, it should seem, he interpreted as in the preceding versu, it involves the least difficulty to suppose, with the above Commentators, and Wets, and Juspus, that it is meant of these, who, being Christians, have died for the prefession of the faith. The general serial is these times have suffered death, was brought the glad annunciation, that although they had suffered death in the flush, yet by the divise comments they shall be made alive. The same view of the sense is adopted by Dr. Burton, as follows; 'It was on this principle of a general judgment, that the Christians who are already dead had the Gaspel prenched to thum, so that according to the common law of our mature they suffer the penalty of death, but by the mirror of God they will be instead to life again by the operation of the Sport.'

7. wirner of we we relate dy years.] This is usually interpreted of the end of the Jewish stain—the destruction of Jerusalem. But the sense thus arising is little satisfactory. It is better to take the expression according to its natural import, as denoting the end of the world, and the linal consummation of all things; as in Phil. iv. 5. James v. 8 & 9. And as to the objection that, if so, St. Peter wise minimiscend as to the period of the end of the world, it has no force. The Apostle may also have intended to include that individual and prement consummation of all things which takes place at the hour of death. See Bp. Hereby creat in Slade. This, however, is extremely improbable, and has been refuted by Lardner, who, with the unitent and many enument modern Commentators, as Grot., Hamm., Whitby, and most of the Remensets, suppose that by Babylon is figuratively meant Rome, which is supported by the united voice of antiquity, and therefore the opinion merits attainton. Certain it is there are many points of resemblance between that Queen of cities, and what we conceive of antient Babylon. Were it not for this authority of antiquity on a point where antiquity may be depended on, I should have been inclined to adopt the opinion of Erism., Germ., Hoss., Gomar, Lightl., Scaliger, Salmas., Clar., L'Enfant, Wets., Schloin., Rosenm., Bans. dec., that is denotes Babylon in Assyras. Those Commentators, however, are not agreed whether to understand Schnein, i.e. Ness Babylon, which (as Rosenm. observes) was the metropolis of the Eastern dispersion of the Jews, and whather is reason to think, was not yet totally deserted. The latter opinion is adopted by Rosenm., and it seems preferable; for there is no subsfactory proof that Seleucia (though it stepped into the place of Old Babylon, and was cheerly built from its raiss) ever received the same of Babylon.

13. Majorev It is most probable that this Mark was the author of the Gospel, and that the Apostic calls him his son, as being his convert or son in the faith.

For swaryshie, dyyshie is edited, from many MPS., Versions, Esthem, and early Editions, by Wets., Grisshie, Matth., Knapp, Tittm., and Vater; and rightly; for swarys, is doubtless a gloin. The sense here seems to include the metions of manage and declaration. To show the true nature of the dectrine contained in this dyyshie, the Apastle lays down a fundamental and annature of the decirine contained in this dyyrkle, the Apustic lays down a fundamental and anquestionable position, representing, by a figure common in the writings of St. John, the purity and perfection of God. The sense may be thus expressed, with Dr. Shuttleworth. "God as the great Fountain of light and purity, uncelled by any shadow of darkness or pollution whetever." New more in Hamm.

opeaks falsely.' The reason is plain; for he really loves God who mesteres him. Now in God is the most perfect benevolence towards all men. Whosoever, therefore, hastet men, heateh God, and cromes his benevolent designs. (Rosenm.) With respect to circumstances purely natural, we have more powerful motives to the love of our neighbour, as being more fully acquisited with him by ocular experience, than we can possibly be with God. (Whitby.) This the Apostle Simily routs on a positive commandment of God, that he who professes, or would be thought to love God, should love his brother also; atherwise by neglecting the latter duty, he cannot fully duckarge the former.

V. 1. In this and the following versus the Apostle continues his discourse on the character of those who are born of God, describing them as lovers of Christia, overcoming the world, and couraguism maintainers of the Gospel; on the witnesses to which in heaven and on earth he then enlarges. Of the Gains to whom this Epistle is addressed, we know nothing, except from this Epistle. Neither the data nor place of the Epistle is ascertained. The design of it was to command Gains for his perseverance in the faith, and his hospitality to some Christian travellers, who had called upon him.

The authenticity of this Epistle was at first questioned, but, after due examination, it was, at an early period, received into the Canon of Scripture, and accordingly is quoted by Tertullian, Clem., Alex., Origen, and other early Fathers. The writer styles himself the brother of James, who was the Bishop of Jerusalem. Thus he was one of the cousine of Christ. He is said by the Ecclematical Historians to have preached the Gospel in various countries of the East, and, at length, to have scaled his testimony with his blood. The date of the Epistle in variously fixed, and cannot be accertained; but it was probably late in the first century. It bears a very strong resemblance to the second Chapter of the second Epistle of St. Peter,

It hears a very strong resemblance to the second Chapter of the second Epatle of St. Peter, which may be partly, though not entirely, accounted for from the subject of both being the same. The style of the Epattle is energetic, and highly figurative; the censures are severs and vehicient, though just, and the subortations earnest and affectionate. It was evidently addressed to Christians in general, both Jewish and Gentile. And the chief purpose of it was to guard them against the seductive arts of false teachers, who had crept in and subverted the faith of many. Hence the writer represents in strong colours the impecty and permichous tandency of the doctrines thus disseminated, and exhorts his readers carsestly to contend for the faith once delivered to the Saints.

Ι. 'ΑΠΟΚΑΛΥΥΙΣ 'Ιησοῦ Χριστοῦ, ἢν ἔδωκον αὐτῷ ὁ Θεὸς, δεῖξαι τοῖς δαύλοις αὐτοῦ ᾶ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχοι'

This is universally allowed to be the most sublime Book of the N. T. In authenticity (namely, that it is a genuane preduction of St. John) was almost universally admitted in the first two centuries; and if doubts were entermined in the threel, they were non removed; and the origin of them is, with reason, secribed to the well mannt, but meganied and of come fanatical Exponences. If it was is the early agonyaded not careable to be read in Charchen, that was not from any doubt of its authenticity, but from its very mysterious character. The learned are agreed in supposing those Revolutions to have been communicated a. s. 95 or 95., and in the Isle of Patmos, (as we find from i. 6.) whither the Apostle had been handled by the persecuting Emperor Douatian. On the steps and dongs of the book, considerable difference of epision exists. See an alaborate statement in Mr. Horse's lutroduction. It should seen that the views adopted by Dean Woodhouse are the most just; though it must be confined that there are many points in which all systems are although any points in which all systems are although the interpretation, and unprojudeed, will desy that, after all the labours of the learned, no Hook of the N. T. has we defeed all attempts to settle its interpretation, and aspecially to trace the purpose of its prophotical representations. What has recreased the difficulty m, that the Textus receptus is un a waves state than that of any other book of the N. T., or indeed in the Old, at least of which is many MSS, have been collated: and yet, as Matthai justly observes, "primo constituends lactor; dander explicands spent mysters." No wander, indeed, is it that the text should be in an undifferent a state, neung that it was derived by Erannes from only out MS, and that a very laid one, not saily sentitued in other cases, seek primary of the Epistles together. These I have, in most compertures, or rather corruptions, of the Editor himself. In after ages, much was done towards the mystallance of a pure text by Bough, West, Muth.,

confined extent of the present work, and that it has already far exceeded the limits ourned to me of the nature. I have been obliged to forbear for the ment part insigning (as I had before done) masses in partification of the coundatines adopted from the very omnoset Editors above mentioned, superally as the authorities, in MSS., Vorunni, surly Editions, and Critics, are in ment instances nearly the same. To assign remains would necessary have required counderable space. Indeed, in Eg. Modd has partly observed, "the time of the Critic throughout the best scarcely yields in difficulty to that of the Expositor; with the difference, however, that the fulfilment of Prophecy will gradually discrete the observation which perplex the one, while these which has been made the observation of C. ference here Exponences are by no means agreed. The common version, 'a pair of balances,' may, I think, be retained, and the expression is understood most naturally, with Newc., Heinr., and Jaspis, of scales for exactly weighing out the corn, an apt designation of famine; corn being usually measured. The chomix was about a much as our measured in being usually measured. The chemix was about as much as our quart, and was considered a sufficient portion for a man's support for a day. See Heradot, vs. 187. The price then memboned (which has been proved to be enormous, nearly twenty times the usual one) is meant to show the acarcity and dearness. By the efree is meant forwell corn, i.e. whest; and the proportion between the quality of wheat and of harley was, it seems, a issual one. On the parport of the subjunted words and of Sanson—us dies. X. I. dryckes—areket wispfe! This description was presented by Sir William Jones to be superior to any thing ever produced by an unimputed writer. The person described by such sublime imagery has been supposed to be either Christ himself, or an emblematical display of his glory. Good reasons, however, have been given by Dean Woodh, for rejecting that view, and he supposes this to be the same kind of divine messenger as before, but coming with a more dignified commission.

phones of events in the Christian Church under the 6th trumpet, which are posterior to the taking of Constantinople. Others, again, regard it as a symbolical declaration of the approaching destruction of Jerusalem. The reader is aspecially referred to the Notes of Woodhouse and Scott, also of Faber cited by Valpy. All are agreed that the symbolical representation in question is formed on what is found in Each, xl.—zliv.

Lights Jeros this word the common text has and dayyohor slevyless, which, however, are found in very few MSS., and were evidently supplied to furnish a Nominative case to helyway; though indeed Dean Woodh, thinks it does not require one, since we may refer it either to "the

I thin has been variously interpreted; either 'the measurem of Megiddo,' Yingwe, denoting figuratively the mountain of destruction, with allusion to the great slaughter there; (Judg. v. 19. 3 Kings ziiii. 29.) or 'the dry mountainous tract,' such as the Jews supposed to be the shode of demons.

XVII. This and the next Chapter seem a continuation of the prophetic description of the events under the sevents vial; but they may be continuated to the sevents of the sevents events under the seventh vial; but they may be a kind of episode, or recapitulation, of what cuccers "the judgment of the great where this situit apon many waters," which judgment this study be to take place previously. However this may be, they doubtless relate to the great Western idolatrous apostary. (Hodden.) Mr. Scott considers this Caspter as purenthetical in the course of the prophecy; to show what wis meant by great Bebylon, which was to be demonstered by a substitute of the second of the prophecy.

pel, and the dreadful punishment of all those who had introduced, supported, or concurred in the idolatrons corruptions before described, are most clearly predicted. But while the instruments of misches had been cut off, the great agent was still at liberty; and be would surely excite fresh disturbances, or produce new delusions, if not prevented. The Apostis had therefore a vision emblematical of the restraints which would be laid on Satan himself. It is here implied that Christ, with omnipotence and absolute authority, will restrain "the devil and his angels," even all his legions of evil spirits, from deceiving markind in general, or any part excite fresh disturbances, or produce new de-lusions, if not prevented. The Apostle had therefore a vision emblematical of the restraints of the restraints which would be laid on Salan himself. It is nations are here meant Exposition are wholly here implied that Christ, with comprotence and absolute authority, will restrain "the devil and his angels," even all his lagions of evil spirits, from deceiving mankind in general, or any part.

Odwares [Rander, 'This is death and hades,' in other words, 'the death which consists in the separation of the soul from the body, and the state of souls intervening between death and judgment, shall be no more.' To the wicked these shall be succeeded by a more terrible death, the second death, the damnation of Gehenna, hell properly so called. Indeed, in this sacred book, the commencement, as well as the destruction, of this intermediate state, are so clearly marked, as to reader it almost impossible to mistake them. In vi. 8, we learn that helds follows close at the beels of death; and from this passange that both are involved in one common ruin at the universal judgment. (Campbell.)

XXI. In this and the following Chapter is described in glowing imagery (formed on that of the Prophets of the O.T.) the bins of the rightess in heaven, after the resurrection and judgment: unless, with some Expositors (espanishly those who maintain a literal resurrection at the beginning of the Millennium, and the parsonal
